

December 23, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

I want to share a terrific opportunity that we have discovered to realize significant cost savings on telecommunication expenses.

HITCO Carbon Composites, Inc. recently engaged David Nelson and Sharon Kim of Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants of Los Angeles to review our communications network. They conducted a comprehensive review of our voice, data, cellular and conferencing services and presented us with a recommendation that will realize savings of over $84,000 a year.

As an Aerospace manufacturing division of the SGL Group with 40 production facilities throughout the world, we rely heavily on our telecommunications infrastructure. Schooley Mitchell offers objective advice in a complex industry with rapid changes. We feel they have our company's best interests in mind.

We feel confident in recommending David and Sharon at Schooley Mitchell for any company looking to tighten the reins on their telecommunications related expenses. We found their business model to be risk-free, and have been impressed with their results.

Sincerely,

Steven R. Bower, Sr. VP
Finance and Administration
HITCO Carbon Composites, Inc.