To whom it may concern:

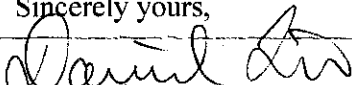

Inventec Appliance Corporation is a large, Taiwan-based company that provides design and manufacturing services for many large companies in Silicon Valley and throughout the world. We specialize in the design and manufacture of cell phones, and we have established offices in the US where we test many cell phone products for our clients. We were challenged in managing the costs associated with the various service providers and multitude of cell phone plans. We looked to Matt Schlegel and Schooley Mitchell to help us lower our costs.

Schooley Mitchell offered us a low risk approach to reducing our cell phone expenses – they lower the cost and split the savings. We appreciate that there are no out-of-pocket expenses for the service, and we save money while paying Schooley Mitchell only money that we would otherwise be paying to the service providers. This approach is win-win and well aligned with our objective of reducing costs.

Schooley Mitchell performed a careful analysis of our services, and Matt explained the various options they explored to delivering cost savings. After selecting the options that made the most sense for us, Matt followed through in implementing the savings and demonstrating lower monthly service fees for us. He managed the changes in such a way as to allow us to continue our testing activities without interruption.

I recommend Matt Schlegel and Schooley Mitchell's services to any company interested in lowering communications costs and having their services managed by a friendly expert.

Sincerely yours,

Daniel Liu
