Good afternoon Neil:

It has been a pleasure working with yourself and your team at Schooley Mitchell. The professionalism, integrity and honesty was refreshing to find. The experience that you brought to the table made it much easier for me to make decisions on our communications systems.

The Schooley Mitchell route is one that I would recommend for any small, medium or large company. Your organization was able to optimize everything in a short period of time with no worries. We are now saving money on a monthly basis and have someone to monitor our communications bills, even when we aren't looking. It is one thing off of our plate that allows us to concentrate on our core business even more.

Thank you again and I look forward to a great working relationship and being able to recommend you to any of my clients and business associates.

Warm regards..
