WIL-SHAR ERECTORS

To whom it may concern:

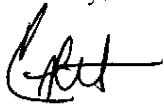

In September 2009, Steven and Aaron Jurgensmeyer of Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants reviewed our telecommunications services and were able to make cost savings recommendations of 18%. These recommendations were presented to me in a detailed and professional manner, allowing the decision-making process to be quick and easy. They also found $1,400 in unauthorized third party charges. They recovered the entire amount for us.

In addition to the savings, there were two other important factors. First, they came to our office and picked up all the documents, which saved us time. Second, they found the savings without making us switch providers, so there was no service interruption.

I am confident that Steven and Aaron are continually using the resources and tools at Schooley Mitchell to evaluate my requirements in an ever-changing marketplace. This ensures me that our company receives the best services and will enjoy the most savings available on an ongoing basis.

I have no hesitation in recommending Schooley Mitchell to provide independent and professional services in the area of telecommunications.

Sincerely,

Carter McLeod
