To Whom It May Concern:

Mark IV Industries is a large and complex group of businesses with multiple locations, business registrations, and individualized supplier arrangements. Much of this complexity makes evaluation of telecom contracts and services both time-consuming and costly. After comparing several competitive quotations, Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants was selected to renegotiate our telecom contracts with our pre-selected telecom suppliers.

During this engagement Melissa Davis, a Schooley Mitchell Telecom consultant, managed to secure significant discounts of over and above what we were able to negotiate ourselves. In doing so Melissa handled herself with a high degree of professionalism and ensured the transition to the new payment schedules occurred without issue.

Based on the benefits realized by Mark IV Industries, I would highly recommend both Melissa Davis and Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants for any business wanting to renegotiate their telecom contracts.

Sincerely,

Carey Allan True
Director, Information Systems
