

To Whom It May Concern:

Our experience with Stephanie Wayne, Samantha Cronin and Schooley Mitchell Telecom Consultants has been wonderful and very beneficial to our company. They reviewed and analyzed our telecom expenses including our local, long distance and data services.

Although we had eight months remaining on our contract with our current provider, they were still able to provide us with a detailed report outlining ways we would be able to save money. They were able to do this without having to extend or renew our contract! We are confident they will be looking for further savings as our contract comes to completion.

In addition, they successfully investigated and determined the source of monthly bills we were receiving from two additional providers. This enabled us to cancel some of these services and consolidate the rest with our main provider. Now we will only receive one bill per month instead of three. These two actions have thus far saved us 17% on our telecoms expenses.

I would recommend Schooley Mitchell to any business looking to save money on their telecom expenses. Their service is risk free and not only offers peace of mind that your telecoms services are being monitored monthly, but that you will be receiving the optimum service for your business at the best price.

Sincerely,
