To Whom It May Concern:

Our sports and entertainment marketing agency engaged Schooley Mitchell to assess our costs on our telecom and determine if our needs were being met.

Through the comprehensive analysis, our technology needs, including office phones and data plans, were recalibrated and optimized.

The process was easy – it provided an independent and objective review of our services, contracts, billing and vendors. We now have a resource that will monitor our needs and provide guidance as we grow!

We would recommend their services to any company looking to optimize their telecom related services and costs.

Sincerely,

Mike Boykin
