RE: Schooley Mitchell

To whom it may concern:

We had the privilege to work with Lyall Newby of Schooley Mitchell, and through his team of experts we are now confident that we are fully optimizing our systems!

The process was straightforward and non-invasive, and there is genuinely no cost to having an evaluation done. We simply had to fill out some paperwork, and his team spent time looking into our telecom services to identify any areas for which we may need growth. They were honest with us and did not try to sell us anything that we did not need.

I would strongly recommend that anyone who has concerns about the growing business costs of telecom, merchant services, and shipping needs calls Lyall Newby and gets an evaluation and analysis completed.

Sincerely,
