Motor Ops is one of North America's top custom tuning companies. We specialize in building engine and transmission calibrations for Duramax, Cummins, and Powerstroke equipped pickup trucks using EFI Live, EZ Lynk, and HP Tuners hardware. We are an e-commerce business with worldwide shipping capabilities and have enjoyed great success since our inception in 2013.

We were approached by Oleg Ryskine from Schooley Mitchell for a review of our expenses. We picked two categories and we received a professional analysis of our expenses, highlighting savings with a detailed comparison of our options, in addition to benchmarking our current costs against the market overall. This was completed using Schooley Mitchell's proprietary software and unique tools.

Upon our approval, the Small Package Shipping proposal was implemented resulting in a profit for us. Schooley Mitchell negotiated and established improved rates for our complex shipping infrastructure which reduced our expenses in this category by thousands of dollars a month!

It is important to note that Schooley Mitchell was easy to work with. They did not consume a lot of our time and resources (an initial 30min meeting) and implementation was done swiftly and flawlessly. Lastly, they continue analyzing monthly bills, monitoring for new baselines, and looking for opportunities for further optimization.

I would strongly recommend Schooley Mitchell and their Cost Reduction services to any business. In fact, I already have. I honestly believe their services, expertise, and focus on implementing fair cost structures will result in operational expenses optimization for most any business.
