

To Whom It May Concern,

I am very pleased to write this recommendation letter on behalf of an incredible businessperson, Phil VanGelder. Phil is the founder of Atlanta Office Technologies and is very well-respected in the industry of managed print solutions.

Atlanta Office Technologies specializes in managing commercial print and copy equipment, AV solutions, document management and audio-visual resources. Its team believes that bigger is not always better, but strategy and implementation are key. Commercial office equipment is a necessity for every business, big or small, and they understand the importance of having a team of like-minded individuals.

Phil obtained a Bachelor of Science in Communications at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana and founded Atlanta Office Technology in 2015. He is involved with several non-profit agencies in the Norcross, Georgia area and is passionate about helping clients optimize workflow and achieve peak productivity and efficiency in their business.

I highly recommend checking out Phil VanGelder and Atlanta Office Technologies if you're looking to create a solid foundation for your business that doesn't necessarily just follow trends. Phil can help your business gain a strong base of quality print and AV solutions that will help it function at its absolute best.

Yours truly,
