

To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to recommend Easter Seals Central and Southeast Ohio. Located in Hilliard, Ohio, it provides comprehensive support services for individuals with disabilities and their families, offering a wide range of programs to meet the varied needs of the community. The diversity of its services reflects a strong commitment to inclusivity and enhancing quality of life across all ages and abilities.

Its services include early childhood education, adult day programs, in-home support, after-school care, and summer camps, helping children and adults develop life skills, gain independence, and participate fully in their communities. It also provides long-term care advocacy and family support services, offering guidance and assistance in navigating complex care systems.

What sets this organization apart is its dedicated, multidisciplinary team of therapists, educators, support staff, and advocates who collaborate to develop individualized care plans tailored to each person's unique goals. Their expertise and compassionate approach enable participants to make measurable progress while fostering dignity and respect throughout the process.

It is without reservation that I recommend Easter Seals Central and Southeast Ohio for its meaningful contributions to the community and its unwavering support of individuals striving for independence and fulfillment.

Sincerely,

John O'Connell
Strategic-Partner
Schooley Mitchell