SCHOOLEY MITCHELL

To whom it may concern:

I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Civic Canopy, a nonprofit organization based in Denver, Colorado, dedicated to helping communities address social challenges through collaboration and community development.

It offers a variety of services, including coaching and training, group facilitation, community engagement, coalition building, leadership development, strategic planning, and data-driven solutions. Through its research-based Community Learning Model, it helps communities develop actionable plans, strengthen partnerships, and create lasting positive change.

Civic Canopy is supported by a dedicated team of professionals who are committed to building productive relationships and empowering communities. Its team demonstrates a strong commitment to equity, inclusion, and collaboration while providing the expertise and guidance needed to help individuals and organizations achieve meaningful outcomes.

I confidently recommend Civic Canopy to community leaders and organizations seeking a reliable partner in creating positive social change. Its comprehensive services, experienced team, and dedication to strengthening communities make it an outstanding organization.

Sincerely,

Jeff Park
