

SCHOOLEY
MITCHELL

Telecommunication Expense Reduction Overview

Schooley Mitchell is the largest independent cost reduction consulting company in North America. This means, among other things, we have the negotiating power and support of a vast network of specialists.

Our business started more than 20 years ago, optimizing telecom fees. Schooley Mitchell is now the authority on reducing telecom expenses – it's the bedrock of our business.

Our reports include the analysis of all telecom services, including:

- › Voice Services
- › Internet Services
- › Wireless Services
- › Data Connectivity
- › Conferencing

Telecom services often come packaged with features you don't need or use, billing errors, and changes in rates you never saw coming, so odds are you're overpaying.

- › Our proprietary analysis tools identify unnecessary surcharges and fees, while our consultants' recommendations and negotiations save you money
- › We reduce our clients' expenses by an average of 28%
- › Our fees are a portion of the identified savings for a limited time; no savings, no fees
- › Savings are often implemented without having to change service providers
- › Invoices are continually monitored to keep costs down – and to identify further savings
- › The expense categories we examine are numerous, meaning your telecom invoice may not be the only one we are able to reduce
