SCHOOLEY MITCHELL

To whom it may concern:

It is a pleasure to recognize CPV Retail for its commitment to delivering innovative and dependable energy solutions to commercial and industrial businesses. Through its expertise in energy procurement and management, it has established a strong reputation for helping organizations navigate the complexities of the energy market while supporting operational efficiency and long-term sustainability.

CPV Retail offers a comprehensive range of services, including electricity and natural gas procurement, renewable energy solutions, energy consulting, utility bill management, sustainability planning, and risk management strategies. By taking a strategic and client-focused approach, it develops customized energy solutions that help businesses optimize costs, improve efficiency, and achieve their environmental and financial objectives.

Equally impressive is the professionalism and industry knowledge demonstrated by its team. It is evident that every client engagement is guided by integrity, responsiveness, and a commitment to providing informed recommendations based on each organization's unique energy needs. Its dedication to building lasting partnerships has contributed to its reputation as a trusted advisor in the energy sector.

For organizations seeking a knowledgeable and reliable energy management partner, I strongly recommend CPV Retail as an outstanding choice. Its commitment to exceptional service, innovative solutions, and long-term value continues to make it a respected leader in commercial and industrial energy services.

Sincerely,
