

To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Principia School, an education institute located in Des Peres, Missouri. It is a well-established academic institution that provides comprehensive educational programs designed to support students across multiple grade levels. Principia School maintains a strong commitment to academic integrity, student development, and institutional excellence.

The institute offers a broad range of educational services, including classroom-based instruction, experiential learning opportunities, extracurricular activities, and student support services. Its curriculum is structured to promote critical thinking, personal responsibility, and intellectual growth. In addition, Principia School supports residential and campus-based learning environments that contribute to a well-rounded educational experience.

Equally notable is the strength of the team at Principia School. It is supported by qualified educators, administrators, and staff who work collaboratively to deliver consistent and effective instruction. The team demonstrates professionalism, organization, and a shared dedication to supporting student success both academically and personally.

Overall, Principia School is a respected educational institution distinguished by its comprehensive services and capable team. It is well-suited for families seeking a structured, supportive learning environment led by experienced education professionals.

Sincerely,

David Dow
Strategic-Partner
Schooley Mitchell