

To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Universal Promo, a respected provider of medical device pad printing services based in Minnesota. It has established a strong reputation for delivering high-quality printing solutions tailored to the unique needs of the medical industry.

Universal Promo specializes in providing precise and reliable pad printing for medical devices. Its services include custom printing solutions that ensure accurate and durable markings on a wide variety of medical products. The company's commitment to quality and regulatory compliance is evident in every project it undertakes.

The success of Universal Promo is largely due to its experienced team, which brings expertise and attention to detail to each printing project. They ensure that every product is printed to meet the most stringent standards, delivering both precision and dependability in their work.

I highly recommend Universal Promo for its expertise in medical device pad printing, its commitment to quality, and its dedicated team. It is a trusted partner for any business in need of reliable, high-quality printing solutions for medical devices.

Sincerely,

Nick Vetrano
Strategic-Partner
Schooley Mitchell