To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Jorge Jeffery of Schooley Mitchell. Our company, Sea to Me Blankets, a luxury faux fur blanket manufacturer based in downtown Los Angeles, engaged with Jorge to audit our shipping, shipping supplies, and merchant services expenses. As a business with a strong online presence and partnerships with top retailers like Nordstrom, Williams-Sonoma, and Fred Segal, we were concerned about potential cost inefficiencies but lacked the time and in-house expertise to thoroughly analyze our expenses.

Jorge's team conducted a comprehensive review of our invoices and contracts, identifying opportunities for optimization. The process was seamless, requiring only a brief discussion about our setup and access to our documents. The real value came when Jorge presented his team's findings, confirming that our expenses were fully optimized. This discovery brought significant relief as we prepare for expected rapid growth.

What impressed me most was the no-obligation nature of the analysis, which included valuable insights and actionable tips on maintaining cost efficiency. Schooley Mitchell's ongoing monitoring will help us identify future savings opportunities. Best of all, this has all been provided at no cost to us. My experience with Jorge and his team has been exceptional. I highly recommend Schooley Mitchell to any business looking to optimize expenses, boost profitability, and gain peace of mind.

Sincerely,

Hollie McBride, CEO and Founder
