

RE: Testimonial - Kevin Litwiller & Schooley Mitchell Consulting Services

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter on behalf of Kevin Litwiller and his team at Schooley Mitchell.

Kevin and I have known each other personally for over 40 years, but I want to be clear that my recommendation here is based entirely on his professional performance and the results he has delivered for Bricon Contracting.

Kevin and his team worked hard to find us savings across several categories, including Office Supplies & Equipment, where they achieved a cost reduction of over 20%. Just as importantly, in categories where our costs were already optimized, the same level of professionalism was applied. Every initiative, regardless of outcome, was supported by detailed reports that clearly validated their findings.

That combination of diligence and integrity is what sets Kevin and his team apart. Whether the result was significant savings or confirmation that we were already well positioned, we received the same thorough, transparent process.

Beyond the initial findings, the ongoing monitoring and reporting provided through the Post Audit process has proven to be an exceptional part of their service offering. Having our costs continually validated and watching for billing errors gives us real peace of mind, and it saves valuable hours that busy business owners simply don't have to spare.

For these reasons, and because of the trust Kevin has earned throughout our working relationship, I recommend him and his team without hesitation. As someone committed to supporting the local business community, and beyond, I want to see Kevin and my fellow owners, managers, and decision-makers benefit the same way Bricon Contracting has.

If you value real savings, honest reporting, and a partner who follows through, call Kevin and team.

Sincerely

Brian Walls
