

To Whom It May Concern,

We recently worked with Marty Stacey of Schooley Mitchell to review our credit card processing fees. I was impressed with the work that was completed.

Trix Acro Gym delivers high-quality gymnastics and acrobatic classes for students aged 1.5 to 18 years old. We have over 30 years of experience teaching recreational gymnastics and acrobatics from our studio in Toronto.

Like any small business, we manage our costs closely. When Marty approached me regarding potential savings on our credit card processing fees, I was skeptical that any savings could be found. We use a specific software platform to manage our class registrations, and I didn't think there would be options to reduce fees. However, it only took a small amount of time to gather the documents required, so I decided to move forward with the analysis from Schooley Mitchell.

I was extremely impressed that Schooley Mitchell was able to find a solution that reduced our fees by over 16%! No vendor change was required, and we continue to manage our class registrations on the software platform like we always have. Schooley Mitchell also provides on-going monitoring of our statements to ensure the credit card processing rates do not creep up.

Working with Schooley Mitchell was a positive experience. I'm happy to recommend both Marty and Schooley Mitchell to any business owner looking to find cost savings in their business.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Ruthy Dunec". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a large, stylized "R" at the beginning.

Ruthy Dunec

Owner, Trix Acro Gym