MVP Electric, Heating & Cooling offers outstanding heating, air conditioning, home automation, water heater, and electrical services in Kansas City, MO and the surrounding areas. As a ten-time Angie's list Super Service award winner we make it a point to take care of our budget as well as we take care of our customers.

When we learned about Darren Morris's business, and a no cost analysis, we knew it was worth pursuing. The process was straightforward and clear: if savings were found we would share in the savings, and if not, we just received a free audit confirming we were paying accurate prices for these services. Darren and his Schooley Mitchell team of analysts found 33% savings in our Telecommunications systems with our existing vendors.

These savings allow us to continue focusing our efforts on building a world class business that prides itself on our customer focus. I would highly recommend that any trade or service business engage Schooley Mitchell to review their telecommunications costs and services. They will provide a thorough professional review and save time and money for any organization.

Sincerely,

Chip Gabbert
